

OPEN RALLY

In 1987, before becoming a certified doctor of Obstetrics & Gynecologist, Dr. Vachara (Victor) Sapsuwan was working very hard in a public university hospital in Bangkok. It was at this time his friend, who was a researcher and lecturer in the same university, introduced Amway to him.

Dr. Victor easily realised that Amway could bring to him the financial freedom and desirable lifestyle he so craved. Even with the copious amount of hard work he was putting into his medical progression, he still managed to allocate 10 – 12 hours a week to learn the Amway business with his wife, Sirinush.

Come along to hear their inspirational story from Dr Vachara himself!
